SNOOK NEARER CHAIR THAN AT ANY TIME YET

Belief Is General That Gov. Cooper Will Not Intervene After Court Action.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—Dr. James H. Snook today was closer to death in the electric chair at the Ohio State Penitentiary here than he has been at any time since he murdered his 24-year-old co-ed sweetheart, Miss Theora Hix, and it appeared almost certain that the former highly-respected college professor would die in "society's instrument of death" Friday.

Attorneys for the doomed man, who killed his paramour on a lonely mile range on the outskirts of this city June 13, today said that Governor Myers Y. Cooper was really Dr. Snook's only hope, as the result of the action of the U. S. Supreme court, yesterday afternoon, which refused to grant the killer a stay of execution or a writ of review.

FORLORN HOPE
It is a forlorn hope, at best, Governor Cooper intimated that he would not interfere with the scheduled electrocution when he refused to grant the professor of veterinary medicine a reprieve last week.

Although the chief executive refused to comment on the action of the United States Supreme court, reports at the state house, which emanated from reliable sources, said there was hardly one chance in a thousand that the chief executive would interfere.

E. O. Ricketts, chief of Dr. Snook's defense counsel, said that he would appeal to the governor today for a stay of execution until the state clemency board has a chance to review the case. Ricketts said he would base his plea on the grounds that Dr. Snook is guilty of nothing more than manslaughter, whereas a common pleas court jury found him guilty of first-degree murder without a recommendation for mercy after deliberation only 28 minutes. The attorney will also point out, he said, that one of the three judges of the Franklin-co. appellate court differed with the majority on some points of the case and that the vote of the seven Ohio Supreme court judges was not listed when the court upheld the conviction.

Attorneys, too, may ask for a writ of habeas corpus from the federal court on the grounds that Dr. Snook is illegally confined, Ricketts declared. He would base the plea on the allegation that "Dr. Snook was deprived of his liberty because of mob violence." However, close followers of the case said that it would hardly be possible to complete this step in the two days that remain.

It is also possible that Governor Cooper may order the board of clemency to make a hurried review of the case, but to have any recommendations it wishes to make, ready before Friday.

Melvin T. Hix, father of the slain co-ed, was in the office of county prosecutor John J. Chester, when Chester, who was in Washington, telephoned the news of the high court's decision to his office.

Myron B. Gessaman, assistant prosecutor, said that Dr. Hix appeared nervous while awaiting the decision, but that he looked relieved when he was told that the supreme court had decreed that the slayer of his daughter must die.

Mrs. Mabel Snook, wife of the man who slew the co-ed for whom he had maintained a "love nest" was visiting her husband in "death row" at the Ohio State Penitentiary when the decision became known.

She did not hear of it until she left the "aisle of the doomed," and then she overheard two prisoners discuss it. She broke down and wept. Mrs. Snook refused to talk to newspapermen. She has remained loyal to her husband, who betrayed her and her child, by his philandering with Theora Hix.

CALCAR CORP. SHOWS COUNCIL DISPOSAL TEST

City Dads Amazed At Results of Sewage Disposal Work—Given Samples.

Members of city council witnessed the demonstration of the treatment of sewage and straw-board waste at the miniature plant of the Calcar Products Corp. Tuesday at the company's laboratory.

The councilmen were amazed and dumb-founded by the seemingly wonderful results that were secured in the treatment of the raw sewage that was rendered over 90 percent pure and the sludge that was converted into a high grade of fertilizer in a very few minutes.

The demonstration was given city council members after the proposition made to it last Wednesday by the members of the Calcar Corp. that they would build a sewage disposal plant on land to be selected by the city and to treat the city's sewage.

Councilmen at the time of the proposal expressed their desire for such a plant and their willingness to accept the proposal made by the Calcar men.

It is possible that at the next meeting of council on Wednesday, March 5, action will be taken on the proposition set down by the Calcar Corp. It is understood that the site for the disposal plant will be on city property in W. Mill-st. This location seems to be the best that can be obtained and it seems acceptable to both the city and the Calcar men.

J. T. Travers, who holds many patents on sewage disposal and who is working with the Calcar Corp., will go to Columbus Friday evening where he will tell the merits of this plant to the city council there. Columbus council is now in the midst of a sewage disposal proposition which is creating much interest in Columbus.

Each member of the council who attended the demonstration Tuesday was given a sample of the water after it has been freed of pollution.

J. W. Strohl and C. H. Clegg, engineers of Bowling Green, O., who are highly interested in sewage disposal, were visitors at the Calcar plant Wednesday.

ACTION TO SET HANNAH FREE FORESTALLED

Prosecutor Files Child-Stealing Charge—Man Bound To Grand Jury.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 26.—Charged with child-stealing in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Melvin Horst, Charles Hannah was arraigned in probate court here today. The confessed slayer of the 4-year-old Orrville youngster waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury.

Bond was fixed by Judge U. S. Saunders at $10,000, in default of which Hannah was remained to the county jail.

This official action today was a perfunctory move, to forestall habeas corpus proceedings which were instituted at Akron yesterday by Hannah's attorney.

Sheriff Clark Shearer will take the child-stealing papers to Akron this afternoon. Meanwhile, the habeas corpus proceedings will be held in abeyance, according to assurances which were given to Prosecutor Marion Graven over the telephone, following Hannah's arraignment here.

LA FATCH SUES

Tony LaFatch, alleged Akron bootlegger, to whom Hannah, in one of his many "confessions," claimed he had turned over Melvin's body, after he had admitted to a scuffling, filed an affidavit in the mayor's court here this morning against Hannah, charging criminal libel.

This charge will remain dormant pending the outcome of the more serious charges against the "confessed" boy-slayer.

Earl Conard, who also has been held for investigation in connection with Melvin's disappearance, continues to be held in jail here. Due to the consent of his attorneys, it has not been necessary for officials to have him formally arraigned on child-stealing charges.

Investigators are still bafflingly attempting to learn from Hannah what disposition was made of the body of the Orrville boy.

RUTH RUFF, 33, ANSWERS CALL

Well Known Local Woman Taken In Hospital Following Operation.

Miss Ruth Ruff, aged 33, of 159 E. Mount-st., died Wednesday at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, following an operation for appendicitis performed Feb. 14. She was the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Ruff.

For a past number of years, Miss Ruff has taught school in South Bend, Ind. Because of poor health she was forced to come home before the Christmas holidays, and remained here until the operation about two weeks ago.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by her father, Luther, and two sons, Miss Magdalene Trump, and Miss Grace Wentworth, both of Circleville.

She was a member of the Lutheran church, and a graduate of Everts high school.

Funeral services will be held at Mader and Sons funeral home and announced later.

CITY HOSPITAL GETS DONATION

That the Circleville hospital is gaining a new section, is substantiated by the fact that the new section is being built by the city, and the city is contributing to the cost of the building.

The gift is the best word in such equipment and has been accepted by many leading hospitals of the country. The incubator was devised by Dr. Turner himself. It is being built by the Schoedinger Co., of Columbus.

POLICE HUNT MAN'S SLAYER

Columbus Street Car Conductor Shot Down During Attempted Holdup.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—A police dragnet was thrown over Columbus today for a man, who shot and killed Charles S. Barrow, 30, a street car conductor, during what police believe was an attempted holdup.

The shooting occurred last night when the car reached the end of the line in the north-end here. The conductor's assailant, the sole passenger in the car, escaped.

Roy Morgan, the motorman of the trolley, told police that he heard the assailant and the conductor argue heatedly. He then heard a shot.

"I thought it was a torpedo someone had put on the rail at first," he said. "Then I looked around and saw Charlie on the floor of the rear platform with his head lying across the step in to the inside of the car."

Morgan told authorities that he stopped the car as soon as possible and then went to the aid of his fallen co-worker. He said Barrow groaned once and then died.

Two men were taken into custody almost immediately following the robbery, but they were released after five hours of questioning.

Barrow's pocketbook was missing, but his money changer remained undisturbed, so it is believed that the robber was partly successful. The loot, however, is believed to be very small. It is estimated that it could not have been reached more than $25.

Barrow was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Barrow, of Lancaster, and had been employed by the local power and light company for nine years.

MISS DAILEY SELECTED BY SAFETY HEAD

Woman With 12 Years' Experience As Executive Chosen In Field of 200.

Miss Melissa M. Dailey, aged 45, an experienced municipal hospital executive, has been appointed superintendent of the Circleville hospital, according to an announcement Wednesday by Safety director J. Wallace Crist. Miss Dailey was selected by Crist after he had received at least 200 applications for the position, including applications from nearly every state in the United States.

The new superintendent, who will come to Circleville permanently on April 1, has had a wide experience as a nurse and superintendent. She was graduated from the Cleveland training school for nurses and took a post-graduate course at Lying-in Hospital, Chicago. She also studied hospital administration at Western Reserve college, Cleveland.

She has had 10 years experience in managing and equipping hospitals and is a member of the Ohio and American Red Cross association.

For six years the hospital executive was at Chicago Lying-in hospital; three years superintendent of Memorial hospital, Fremont, O.; one and one-half years, superintendent of the municipal hospital at Lancaster, and for the same length of time was superintendent of the Jane M. Case hospital at Delaware, O. Miss Dailey relieved the superintendent of the Twin City hospital, at Dennison, O., for several months and was asked to accept the position permanently, but declined. She is at present superintendent of the Pickaway hospital at Clinton, O., and has been a member of the Pickaway hospital board.

The employment of Miss Dailey as superintendent of the new hospital will greatly aid the hospital commission in its work for many technical items which are necessary for a hospital must be selected and the board is certain that an experienced superintendent knows more about what to purchase than the commission does.

It is the plan of Mr. Crist to employ as nurses, girls from Circleville and Pickaway-co., provided they have the necessary experience and requirements.

From the time Miss Dailey comes to Circleville until the hospital is completed will be probably one month in which time she will be of great aid in placing equipment and furniture necessary for the new institution.

This is certainly a very satisfactory showing for the first few days of balloting and gives ample proof that the enterprise is popular and that it has met with the tremendous success anticipated when the plan was first considered. The best of prizes were selected and the subscription price not changed, the paper maintains its original high class and newsy appearance, and good weather ahead of us, what could be better or more conducive to a pleasant campaign? All things considered, there should be no reason why the candidates nominated in the prize campaign should not make the subscriptions fly thick and fast during the next few weeks.

ACTION TO SET HANNAH FREE FORESTALLED

Prosecutor Files Child-Stealing Charge—Man Bound To Grand Jury.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 26.—Charged with child-stealing in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Melvin Horst, Charles Hannah was arraigned in probate court here today. The confessed slayer of the 4-year-old Orrville youngster waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury.

Bond was fixed by Judge U. S. Saunders at $10,000, in default of which Hannah was remained to the county jail.

This official action today was a perfunctory move, to forestall habeas corpus proceedings which were instituted at Akron yesterday by Hannah's attorney.

Sheriff Clark Shearer will take the child-stealing papers to Akron this afternoon. Meanwhile, the habeas corpus proceedings will be held in abeyance, according to assurances which were given to Prosecutor Marion Graven over the telephone, following Hannah's arraignment here.

LA FATCH SUES

Tony LaFatch, alleged Akron bootlegger, to whom Hannah, in one of his many "confessions," claimed he had turned over Melvin's body, after he had admitted to having murdered the boy over the head with a scantling, filed an affidavit in the mayor's court here this morning against Hannah, charging criminal libel.

This charge will remain dormant pending the outcome of the more serious charges against the confessed boy-slayer.

Earl Condon, who also has been held for investigation in connection with Melvin's disappearance, continues to be held in jail here. Due to the consent of his attorneys, it has not been necessary for officials to have him formally arraigned on child-stealing charges.

Investigators are still bafflingly attempting to learn from Hannah what disposition was made of the body of the Orrville boy.

RUTH RUFF, 33, ANSWERS CALL

Well Known Local Woman Taken In Hospital Following Operation.

Miss Ruth Ruff, aged 33, of 159 E. Mound-st., died Wednesday at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, following an operation for appendicitis performed Feb. 14. She was the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Ruff.

For a past number of years, Miss Ruff has taught school in South Bend, Ind. Because of poor health she was forced to come home before the Christmas holidays, and remained here until the operation nearly two weeks ago.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one brother, Luther, and two aunts, Miss Magdalene Trump and Mrs. Grace Wentworth, both of this city.

She was a member of the Lutheran church and a graduate of Everts high school.

Funeral services in charge of Mader and Ebert will be announced later.

CITY HOSPITAL GETS DONATION

That the Berger Memorial hospital is gaining wide recognition, is substantiated by the gift to that institution by Dr. Charles E. Turner, chief obstetrician at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus. Dr. Turner has presented to the Circleville hospital a baby incubator, a necessity to every hospital nursery.

The gift is the last word in such equipment and has been accepted by many leading hospitals of the country. The incubator was devised by Dr. Turner himself. It is being built by the Schoedinger Co., of Columbus.

POLICE HUNT MAN'S SLAYER

Columbus Street Car Conductor Shot Down During Attempted Holdup.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—A police dragnet was thrown over Columbus today for a man, who shot and killed Charles S. Barrow, 30, a street car conductor, during what police believe was an attempted holdup.

The shooting occurred last night when the car reached the end of the line in the north-end here. The conductor's assailant, the sole passenger in the car, escaped.

Roy Morgan, the motorman of the trolley, told police that he heard the assailant and the conductor argue heatedly. He then heard a shot.

"I thought it was a torpedo someone had put on the rail at first," he said. "Then I looked around and saw Charlie on the floor of the rear platform with his head lying across the step into the inside of the car."

Morgan told authorities that he stopped the car as soon as possible and then went to the aid of his fallen co-worker. He said Barrow groaned once and then died.

Two men were taken into custody almost immediately following the robbery, but they were released after five hours of questioning.

Barrow's pocketbook was missing, but his money changer remained undisturbed, so it is believed that the robber was partly successful. The loot, however, is believed to be very small. It is estimated that it could not have been reached more than $25.

Barrow was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Barrow, of Lancaster, and had been employed by the local power and light company for nine years.

MISS DAILEY SELECTED BY SAFETY HEAD

Woman With 12 Years' Experience As Executive Chosen In Field of 200.

Miss Melissa M. Dailey, aged 45, an experienced municipal hospital executive, has been appointed superintendent of the Circleville Berger hospital, according to an announcement Wednesday by Safety director J. Wallace Crist. Miss Dailey was selected by Crist after he had received at least 200 applications for the position, including applications from nearly every state in the United States.

The new superintendent, who will come to Circleville permanently on April 1, has had a wide experience as a nurse and superintendent. She was graduated from the Cleveland training school for nurses and took a post-graduate course at Lying-in Hospital, Chicago. She also studied hospital administration at Western Reserve college, Cleveland.

She has had 10 years experience in managing and equipping hospitals and is a member of the Ohio and American Red Cross association.

For six years the hospital executive was at Chicago Lying-in hospital; three years superintendent of Memorial hospital, Fremont, O.; one and one-half years, superintendent of the municipal hospital at Lancaster, and for the same length of time was superintendent of the Jane M. Case hospital at Delaware, O. Miss Dailey relieved the superintendent of the Twin City hospital, at Dennison, O., for several months and was asked to accept the position permanently, but declined. She is at present superintendent of the Pool hospital clinic in Port Clinton.

"She is a member of the Presbyterian church.

The employment of Miss Dailey as superintendent of the new hospital will greatly aid the hospital commission in its work for many technical items which are necessary for a hospital must be selected and the board is certain that, an experienced superintendent, knows more about what to purchase than the commission does.

It is the plan of Mr. Crist to employ as nurses, girls from Circleville and Pickaway-co., provided they have the necessary experience and requirements.

From the time Miss Dailey comes to Circleville until the hospital is completed will be probably one month in which time she will be of great aid in placing equipment and furniture necessary for the new institution.

GORDON TIRES, CLUB READY FOR FAST CONTEST TONIGHT

The battle of the ages is the name which will probably be given to the court contest between the Gordon Tires and the C. A. C. this evening on the Club gym, for a battle seems to be inevitable. All year this Gordon aggregation has been aching for a chance to meet the Club and this evening the opportunity presents itself which will certainly see the fur fly.

Manager George Crum of the Gordon team has his defense and offense outlined and knows right now just which man on his team will play each individual on the other quintet.

The Gordons have been going along in great shape and with the team hitting the hoop regularly and playing good defensive ball, it is thought they have a good chance to give the Club tossers a battle.

It is expected Howard and White will play forwards for the Gordons, with Barnes at center and Courtwright and Pickens at the guards. The Club lineup will be the same as it has been practically through the season with Steele, Gordon, Parks, Wallace, Merriam and the two Robinson boys alternating in the lineup.

INDOOR SPORT NEARS FINALE

Bucks Windup Season With Two Good Games at Indiana and Wisconsin.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25—This week marks the beginning of the end of the 1930 indoor sport season at Ohio State University. The Buckeye basketball five winds up its year with two road games, one with Indiana Saturday night at Bloomington and the finale March 3rd at Madison against Wisconsin.

Fencers and wrestlers have their final dual meet before the conference championships on March 14 and 15, while the tennis squad opens its campaign Thursday and Friday when Carl Dennison, Youngstown, and "Chuck" Okerbloom, Columbus, go to Cornell for an invitation indoor tournament. The track team draws a week of rest prior to the conference indoor championships. Indiana and Wisconsin will be tough opponents for the Ohio State floor squad. Jesse Stewart, Yellow Springs, the "find" of the recent Purdue game here, will be at center for the Buckeyes. Jack Evans, Columbus, forward, will play his last varsity game against Wisconsin.

The only Ohio State squads to perform at home will be the wrestlers and fencers. The Michigan fencing team comes here for a match Saturday afternoon while the Indiana matmen will appear here that evening. Also on the varsity menu is a single telegraphic rifle match for Ohio State's marksmen. The Buckeye musketeers face Minnesota in their next to the last shoot of the year. Only one telegraphic loss has been marked up against the Ohio State squad this season.

COUNTY COURT SQUADS READY

Teams Face Barrier In Quarter-Finals Thursday Eve—Finals Saturday.

With one week of the county basketball tournament behind them and with several of the county's good court teams lying by the wayside where they have been cast by other teams, marching on the quarter—and semi-finals, county fans are turning their attention to the resumption of the tourney which starts at C. A. C. Thursday evening and which hardly pauses until the finals have been played Saturday night.

Where greater crowds than had been expected in the early stages of the tourney stormed the hall on both evenings last week it is expected that this week's crowd will even surpass those, if that thing is possible. Action in the final week of the meet begins Thursday at 7 p. m. The first game will be between Scioto-twp boys, victorious over Ashville in the tourney's upset, tangling with Walnut, a team which drew a bye into the quarter-finals.

SCIOTO VS. WALNUT
From their performance last Saturday morning when they turned their surprising trick against Ashville, it can be expected that Scioto will be a favorite from now on in the tournament and unless something unforeseen occurs, they are going to bump Walnut and win the right to meet Pickaway in the semi-finals, Friday at 7 p. m. Walnut has not played in the tournament and the strength that team shows is a matter for conjecture.

The first girls' game Thursday evening will be between Darby and Saltcreek. Darby was not very impressive in turning back Washington girls Saturday but might have been holding some power in reserve. The tournament strength of the Saltcreek girls is not known.

The winner of that game will face Walnut girls Friday evening in the semi-finals.

The third contest Thursday evening will be between Perry and New Holland boys, with New Holland apparently holding an advantage because of the condition of Hughes, Perry's star forward. Hughes with a knee injury sustained in an accident at Ashville recently can hardly hobble about let alone play basketball, and this circumstance has greatly impaired the Perry power.

However, the game should be a good one, no matter which team wins. The winner of the Thursday game will face Deer Creek in the semi-finals Friday evening.

The final game Thursday evening will be between Monroe and Ashville girls. Monroe turned Perry back last week but experienced much trouble in pulling the trick. Ashville looked mighty good Saturday morning in defeating New Holland, and is readily accepted as one of the strongest teams in the tourney.

The semi-finals which will be played Friday evening will see two of the tournament's strongest teams eliminated.

IF'S LISTED
Here are a few if's. If Scioto boys defeat Walnut, they will face Pickaway. In that case either Pickaway or Scioto will be eliminated.

While in the above bracket, Deer Creek should defeat the winner of the Perry-New Holland game.

Going to the girls' meet, IF Ashville defeats Monroe, which seems probable; the Ashville girls will be forced to face Pickaway girls in a semi-final, which contest gives promise of being one of the greatest of the tournament. Walnut girls, in the low bracket, should be able to defeat either Darby or Saltcreek, though against Ashville or Pickaway.

WHY DIPHTHERIA MUST BE STOPPED

Year after year diphtheria exacts its toll of over 10,000 lives, one-quarter as many as we lost in one year of the World War. Most of this loss occurs among children under five years of age, who are most susceptible. This unnecessary tragedy continues year after year.

The money loss caused by this destruction of human life through diphtheria is untold. Even more compelling is the picture of the suffering of the children, the anxiety of the parents and the darkened homes. Furthermore, there are 10 to 15 times as many cases of this disease as deaths. In 1926 there were over 100,000 cases in the United States. The communicable diseases of childhood, of which diphtheria is one are directly responsible for some of the abnormal heart and kidney conditions which appear in later life.

Such a waste of human life and injury to health is needless, since all children can be protected against diphtheria.

CAMPAIGN

The fact that more votes are allowed for new subscriptions by far than for renewals. The cash, of course, counts for the same on the bonus offers, and should be collected, but several hundred more votes are given for a new subscription than for an old one. Obviously then, the candidates should make their hardest drive for the new ones. Let your work be so systematically done, that after the campaign is over, it can be truthfully claimed by every candidate, that every man or woman in Pickaway-co has been approached and given an opportunity to subscribe for the Herald.

Attention is again directed to the vote offer which is in effect until next Tuesday night. It is a good one, and every candidate should make plans to save the triple votes. Remember that at no future time will an offer allowing a greater number of votes be given, so right now is when you should make the hours and minutes count.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest, breath is bad, tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.

Over 60 Countries Now Treat Colds Without "Dosing"

Modern Vaporizing Ointment Fast Replacing Old-Time Internal Remedies

A generation ago, it was the custom to give large doses of internal medicines for colds and almost every human ailment. Then, a North Carolina pharmacist originated Vicks VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds without "dosing." Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

As more and more people adopted this modern external treatment, the fame of Vicks spread until today it is the standby for colds—adults as well as children—in over 60 countries.

This ever-increasing demand is shown in the figures of the familiar Vicks slogan. Made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," and later raised to "21 Million," these figures, too, have been outgrown, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly," in the United States alone.

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

NOTE THESE LOW PRICES

Roadster . . .	$135
Phaeton . . .	$410
Coupe . . .	$500
Two-window Fordor Sedan . . .	$600
Three-window Fordor Sedan . . .	$625
Convertible Cabriolet	$645
Town Sedan	$670

(All prices f. o. b. Detroit)

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

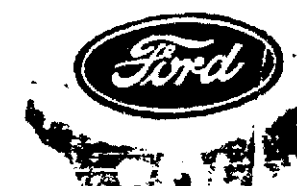

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

"SALLY" BLOOMS IN RADIANCE OF NATURAL COLOR

Sensational Picture Is Coming With Marilyn Miller As Its Star.

"Sally," Marilyn Miller's first motion picture, which comes to the Clifton Theatre Sunday, March 2nd, is made entirely in Technicolor showing the natural colors of costumes, settings and other spectacular effects.

The picture has been adapted from Miss Miller's greatest stage success, and is an all-dialogue production with singing and dancing on the most lavish scale ever attempted on the screen. An all-star supporting cast is seen with Miss Miller, including Kelton, who played in Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," is the ingenue lead, and Alexander Gray, the musical comedy favorite who sang in "The Desert Song," appears in the romantic lead. Joe E. Brown, Ford Sterling, and T. Roy Barnes are the chief comedians in the picture, and the rollicking story of a girl who becomes a waif and a humble waitress who becomes a stage star.

John H. Johnson directed "Sally," which was adapted for the screen by William Young from the musical comedy by Guy Bolton and George Kern. The best musical numbers of the original stage production are heard, as well as the personal numbers especially written for "Sally" on the screen.

The famous Alvin Ailey dancers appear in an ensemble number, and a company of more than 100 is seen in support of the star.

"Sally," which is a theatrical record in every way, is the first American picture to have a stage musical comedy as its breaking box office record in picture, and has already established Marilyn Miller as a screen star of the first rank.

It is a First National and Vitaphone picture.

With Marilyn Miller As Its Star.

"Sally," Marilyn Miller's first motion picture, which comes to the Cliftona Theatre Sunday, March 2nd, is made entirely in Technicolor showing the natural colors of costumes, settings and other spectacular effects.

The picture has been adapted from Miss Miller's greatest stage success, and is an all-dialogue production with singing and dancing on the most lavish scale ever attempted on the screen. An all-star supporting cast is seen with Miss Miller. Pert Kelton, who played in Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," is the ingenue lead and Alexander Gray, the musical comedy favorite who sang in "The Desert Song," appears in the romantic lead. Joe E. Brown, Ford Sterling and T. Roy Barnes are the chief comedians in the gay and rollicking story of a grand duke who becomes a waiter and a humble waitress who becomes a stage star. John Francis Dillon directed "Sally," which was adapted for the screen by Waldemar Young from the musical comedy by Guy Bolton and Jerome Kern. The best remembered melodies of the original stage production are heard, as well as additional numbers especially written for "Sally" on the screen.

The famous Albertina Rasch dancers appear in the ensemble numbers, and a company of more than 100 is seen in support of the star.

"Sally," which broke theatrical records in every large city in America when presented as a stage musical comedy, is also breaking box office records as a picture, and has already established Marilyn Miller as a screen star of the first rank.

It is a First National and Vitya-phone picture.

TEACHING TRADES

A good many people are questioning whether Henry Ford's proposal to put $100,000,000 into a great system of vocational schools will be so "practical" as Mr. Ford evidently thinks. Mechanics might be "turned out" as an automobile factory turns out cars, admits one of the critics, but is there any certainty that such training will ever be of use to nine-tenths of the graduates?

"The first task of the Ford schools would be to decide what remaining trades are likely to be useful 20 years from now."

The old trades are rapidly changing and already many of them are hardly recognizable. Blacksmithing, for instance. Machinery becomes more and more, the man becomes less and less. The typical mechanic of the future, apparently, will be a man who merely assembles, operates or repairs complicated machines. A workman, generally speaking, needs less and less initiative and special training. Mechanical work grows so monotonous that Mr. Ford himself is said to find more men better fitted for many of his jobs than intelligent, thinking persons.

It may be well to continue giving boys and girls a good deal of general instruction, along theoretical lines, if for no other reason than equipping them, in the midst of mechanical monotony, to occupy their minds somehow and thus find interest in life.

MURDER MUSEUM

King Alfonso of Spain has one of the queerest collections of relics in the world, assembled in his palace at Madrid. It contains all sorts of things reminding him of his narrow escapes from death. There is a stone on which he once cracked his head, a rusty knife with which an assassin tried to stab him, the skeleton of a horse that was killed by a bomb intended for its master, a poisoned feeding bottle that nearly finished him in his infancy, bits of a bomb hurled at him on his wedding day, the revolver which a madman emptied at him as he was riding through the street and many another gruesome souvenir.

This might be considered a very morbid museum, more suitable for a morgue than a palace. But Alfonso is said to get considerable fun out of it. He is a man of nerve, with a sardonic sense of humor. It pleases him to survey his grim relics and say to himself with a grin, "They haven't got me yet."

Most of us prefer to ignore such reminders. "Memento mori" is not for us. We do not want to remember we shall die. For sensitive and imaginative men and women, it seems better to ignore death till it comes, fixing the mind on life. Only thus can they endure what Mark Twain, who dwelt too much on death, called "the overwhelming tragedy of human existence."

THE WELL POLICED LANE

"MASTER of MONEY"

BY ROY VICKERS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

WEALTHY Alan Brennaway is in love with Shirley Dane, beautiful, society girl, who is secretly engaged to Roger Kelton. Alan, learning that Rogers is to marry Shirley, lends him $500,000. He takes as collateral shares in a Macedonia development believed worthless. After Shirley and Roger are married, Shirley, ignorant of the loan, is incensed when Roger tells her Alan is trying to force him to go to Macedonia. Receiving a tip from Cynaz, shady financier, Roger visions the reduction of his indebtedness to Alan. Jealous of Alan, Roger comes to the conclusion the loan was made because of Shirley. When Alan warns Shirley of her extravagance, she tells of her investment in Corto Bellas stock. Roger offers Alan $50,000 and Alan wonders where the money is to come from. Roger resents Alan's probing into his "personal affairs." Next day, the stock drops considerably. That night Shirley learns that Roger has lost all her inheritance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX.
HE turned on her suddenly. "Oh, don't nag—don't nag! Where do you suppose I got it from? You're not a child or a fool! Use your common sense!" He drained the brandy in two gulps. He began to bluster. "And I may as well make it clear, Shirley, that I'll stand no reproach. It was, from the first, your idea to play this game. You forced it on me—I wasn't temperamentally suited to it."

"Don't worry, I'm not going to reproach you."

She was back at the window, quivering with contempt for him. This was what she had married—this! And she could have had Alan Brennaway. . . . At Alan's name here flashed up a fresh bafflement. What had Cynaz meant by dragging Alan's name into it? If Roger had borrowed that fifty thousand from Alan, it would be clear enough. But Roger had not borrowed. He had stolen—from rust funds. Stolen.

She cried out sharply and he stared up at her. "Now, look here, Shirley—" Her words cut across his. "I want to know everything, Roger. Everything. What—how far has Alan Brennaway helped up already?"

The glass he still held fell to the floor and rolled, without breaking, almost to her feet. She was able to take an interest in it, wondering why it had not broken. . . . She had startled him considerably. He was stammering and hedging.

"Brennaway? We surely aren't going to discuss Brennaway again, are we? I'm tired of the sound of his name. It's been Brennaway, Brennaway."

Again she found herself shouting at him. "Tell me what I want to know, Roger! You shall tell me! How does Alan come into it? Tell me! How does Alan come into it? Tell me!"

Roger began to laugh. His laugh was high-pitched and unpleasant. "All right, I'll tell you."

"You're raving at me because I've stolen," snarled Roger at Shirley. "Of course, I've stolen. It's not an original idea, to money with trust funds. Other men have done it before me. My own father did it for twenty years!"

"I don't believe it."

"It's not worth believing. It's easily verified. My father took roughly five hundred thousand dollars' worth of his clients' money. I inherited the debt and I didn't know what was to become of me. I contemplated suicide."

"I tried to release you a number of times but I wanted the strength of will I hadn't you too much. But one of the clients found out and sent a libelous postcard to some of the others. Brennaway brought his round to show me and I admitted it was true."

"I was in a pretty desperate state then. He asked me for details and I gave him a list of all the people my father had robbed. Then, to my amazement, he offered to lend me a half million. It wasn't in a position to refuse."

"But why—why should Alan do that? He hardly knew you. Why?"

Again Roger laughed. "Exactly. Why did he do it? Be-

"Where are you going?"

"I'm going to pay my debt to Alan. Let me pass, Roger, please."

Alan Brennaway, from his cottage window, had watched the black weather come up over the woods. Usually, storm clouds stirred something in him, calling to the fighting instinct that had taken him to Mexico and back; but tonight he was listless.

His physical strength might be returning, but the strength of his soul had gone. Shirley had drained it away in that moment when she had left him alone with Roger, so that Roger might, with insolent finesse, thrust him outside their lives forever.

Alan leaned against the easement and stared up to the threatening sky. He felt the weight of his heaviness pressed in literal fact upon every nerve and sinew. He drew long breaths, almost gasping. . . . Shirley and her "policy" had won.

The latent manhood in Roger Kelton, that might have proved itself under the spur of toil, had gone down before her bland insistence that accomplishment was a matter of diplomacy.

And he—Alan Brennaway—who had wrested a fortune out of the bowels of the earth—had smiled and shrugged and gone down, also, in baffled silence. Decidedly, Shirley had won.

Alan groaned under the oppression of his thoughts. The storm gathered outside and the air lay unmoving in his room. He would have opened his window, but lassitude held him. It imprisoned him. The weight of it was the weight of his failure to find the Shirley-who-might-have-been.

Into this torpor walked the Shirley-who-was. Very pale, very composed, very wet.

"My dear Shirley, What on earth—"

She stopped in front of him, her eyes lifted steadily to his. She seemed tongue-tied—an echo of her strange mood on the moorland that morning; but he sensed her mood now as more definite, if even stranger.

She stood before him with rain silencing the gold-silver of her hair.

Her dress was of some heavy, woven silk—knitted, he believed—boyishly open at the throat and short in the sleeves and skirt. It appeared to be dry. . . . His gaze traveled down to her feet and discovered high rubber boots. She had a dripping anklet on her arm.

"The rain has started. Alan, I'll just hang my coat up, if I may."

Her voice was harsher than he had ever heard it.

"There's something wrong, Shirley? You look—"

"I've come to dinner with you. Is there anything for me to eat?"

He had not yet removed away from him, although the water from her mackintosh was trickling into a pool upon the floor. Her gaze was still steadily upon his. His first thought, that she had quarreled with her husband, was submerged in the belief that she had come to him. Yet she demanded hospitality!

"We must get you dry first," he said, rousing himself. He found matches and lit the fire in the hearth. Then he took the mackintosh and went into the passage with it. As he hung it up, he saw her sink down by the first thin flames as though she desperately needed their warmth.

He went on into the kitchen. He was shaken, now, as so often when fresh from her presence, by unreasoning, uncritical love for her. What did it matter whether she mocked at effort and killed the glory of labor with a lifted brow? She was pagan, through and through. She joyed only in the pulse and thud of living.

(To Be Continued.)

He moved towards the door. Roger lurched toward her.

Fight Diphtheria—Now!

Urges Noted Health Authority

The Cooperation of Every Parent is Needed to Carry On the Winning Crusade Against This Dread Disease, Says Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MOST of us can remember how, only a few years ago, thousands of tiny tots were attacked by the dread disease diphtheria. It was tragic to see these little children succumb to this terrible malady. Parents and doctors had to stand by helplessly, unable to cope with the situation.

Within twenty-five years there has come a great change. After much study and experiment, diphtheria antitoxin was found to be a success in the control of this disease. In New York City, during this period of time, the deaths have been reduced by eighty per cent and the number of cases has been decreased by thirty per cent by the preventive methods which have been developed.

Within the last two years forty-eight special preventive clinics have been provided in the city by the Health Department. Competent child specialists are in attendance and treatments are given without charge.

It now has been found that toxin-antitoxin is a real preventive of this disease. Dr. William H. Park, director of the Bureau of Laboratories of the New York City Health Department, worked for many years on this problem. He should have the gratitude of every man, woman and child for the great work he has done in his theria. Diphtheria is not now necessary.

To those parents of young children who have not received this simple protective treatment I would say that just as you prize the lives of your children you should not neglect seeing your local health authorities, or your own doctor, and have this treatment given your child.

We must go forward in our winning fight against this disease.

It is the little helpless tots from six to seven months old to children of ten years of age who are most susceptible to this very contagious disease. It is said that about one-third of the children of New York City have not had this treatment and, of course, tens of thousands elsewhere.

The co-operation of every parent is needed to help wipe out this dread disease. We must carry on a crusade against ignorance and fear in handling this situation. There is nothing to fear in this simple treatment. There is everything to fear in the disease itself.

In this treatment there are no apparent after effects. If there is a temporary reaction it is slight and lasts only for a day or two. In young children there is no after effect or a very slight one in some cases. In older children there may be a slight redness at the spot where the injection is made, and maybe a little fever, but this soon passes.

For several years what is known as the "Schick Test" has been used, and doctors have been able to locate the children, and grown-ups too, who are susceptible to diphtheria and who are likely to take the disease.

So we see what wonderful strides have been made for the protection of these little ones and of adults, too, who may be exposed to this dread disease. No parent should hesitate a moment to make the child

No Indian Name

There was no universal American Indian name. The Indians were many tribes and nations, speaking many languages. They had no idea of the extent of the two continents and most of them knew only a few of their neighboring tribes. Tribes had local names for the region in which they lived, and often the tribes had other names for the same territory.

Snares of Meats Infrequent

The great constrictors such as the python and boa take a long time to kill and prepare a meal and still longer to swallow it. Digestion goes on for many days, and even in a country full of game, a constrictor does not kill more than once a month.

KONJOLA GIVES SPEEDY RELIEF FROM SUFFERING

New Medicine Proves Again It Powers in the Most Obstinate of Cases.

MRS. KATHERINE BEEHLER.

"It is nothing less than astonishing what Konjola did for me," said Mrs. Katherine Beehler, 208 East 21st street, Cleveland.

"I am sixty years old, and at my age had begun to fear that there was no relief from rheumatism, from which I suffered horribly for years. I was told, a dozen times that I had rheumatism in one of its worst forms. Certainly one could not live and endure an more severe aches and pains than I had. My joints were stiff and my limbs were swollen to almost twice their natural size."

"A number of friends begged me to give Konjola a trial, and finally I consented, but with absolute hope that Konjola would prove any different from all the other medicines I had tried. I started the treatment eight weeks ago and today I haven't a sign of rheumatism. What a joy to be free from those terrible pains."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Ancient Greek Symbols

Ancient Greece had no national flag since it was divided into many separate kingdoms. The standard of Attica bore a white war horse; that of the Corinthians the winged horse; the Lacedaemonians the letter L; that of the Thracians a death head; that of the Thessalonians the immortal sorrel horse, Nantios; that of the Messenians the letter M.

Vatican Given Large Sum

Miss Loy received many choice roles in silent films due to her dancing ability, as well as many others won by her histrionic talents. Then the talkies hit Hollywood, and Myrna found herself unusually well equipped for the medium. One of the first roles in talking pictures was the dancing slave girl in the Vitaphone production of "The Desert Song," while she has essayed dramatic parts in such pictures as "Under a Texas Moon."

Sore Throats and Coughs

Here's a doctor's prescription that is really throat insurance. Sore or irritated throats are relieved and soothed almost instantly with the very first swallow. About 90% of all coughs are caused by an irritated throat; consequently for most coughs too there is nothing better than this famous prescription—it goes direct to the internal cause. It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs and relieve sore throats in 15 minutes or your money will be refunded. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Ask for Thoxine 25c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Hamilton & Ryan and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Don't be misled by the false notion that fatigue from ordinary efforts is a natural result. For our bodies are so constructed that they should be able to withstand the routine of regular days.

It is only the presence of a physical disorder of infection that creates undue tiredness. If you feel that your energy is insufficient the safe and sure thing to do, if you wish to retain vigorous health, is to visit a physician immediately. This tired, listless feeling may be from any of a hundred causes. Your doctor can set your mind at ease.

And when he gives you a prescription, be sure to bring it here where experience and pure drugs protect your safety.
